DROVE THE FIRST

Phil Q. Atkinson is Here After Seventeen Years of Absence.

Phil Q. Atkinson, well known by all Honolulu's kamaainas, is aboard the Zealandia. He is a modest man and hides himself for the most part from the glare of the public gaze, but if any man has friends in Honolulu it's Phil Atkinson. "Phil," as all his admirers call him, is at present the storekeeper for the Shriners, aboard the Zealandia—that is, he looks after the feeding of the mystic host; likewise the feeding of their camels. He is also the chief potentate of the Zeelandia springs and does lots of other things to make people happy. He's a jolly good fellow, is Phil, and he does love Hawaii. How he will ever tear himself away from these glorious islands is a mystery the solution of which is known only to Allah. Seventeen long years ago Phil Atkinson left Honolulu for the Coast after a stay of three years in this country. Those were the "good old days" according to Mr. Atkinson.

Atkinson was one of the original five of the Myrtle Club and was also one of the first to join the Honolulu Club. He drove the first bus to Waikiki and a mighty popular driver he was, too. He used to carry the children to school in his 'bus and the children all loved him, for he was always jolly and happy and ready to entertain and take care of them. Phil loves children. Those children are now grown up to be big men and women, but they haven't forgotten Phil. Phil called at a certain mansion yesterday to see some old friends. The lady of the house knew him at once, although she had not seen him for seventeen years, and was but seven years of age when Atkinson left Honolulu. She was one of the little ones Phil used to drive to school. Atkinson is a special officer in the San Francisco Police Department and is just taking this trip with the Shriners for the sake of seeing Hawaii and all his old friends.

PARKER-KNIGHT.

A Wedding of Local Interest in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—The marriage of Mrs. Elizabeth Parker, the daughter-in-law of Samuel Parker, the well-known capitalist of Honolulu, to Frederick S. Knight, son of George Knight of this city, will take place at 3 p. m. Monday in Trinity Church. Mrs. Parker is the daughter of the late Mr. Dowsett of the Islands. He was one of the wealthiest men in Honolulu, and had large and varied interests. Mr. Dowsett was an Englishman by birth, and went to Honolulu when quite a young man. Mrs. Parker, when she reached the age of 19, was sent to New York, where she was educated. She is a brilliant musician.

Mr. Knight is the second son of George Knight, the well-known lawyer. The wedding will be very quiet, only a few of the intimate friends of the bride and groom are to be present. After the ceremony they will go to San Jose and on October 21st will sail on the Alameda for Honolulu, where Mr. Knight will go into business.

Special Delivery System.

With the going into effect of the American postal laws here the special delivery system became effective, but very few people in Honolulu seem to have realized that fact and almost no use of the system has yet been made in this city. It has proven a great convenience in the States and will prove even more so here, where there is no regular delivery system. By the placing of a special delivery stamp costing ten cents on any letter the sender of the letter secures the immediate delivery of the letter by special messenger, thereby saving much time and frequently considerable money.

In all cases of physical or mental exhaustion, the use of a little Jesse Moore "AA" Whiskey will be found invaluable as a stimulant.

What it is

Pure Soap is without grease or alkali.

Soap cleanses; alkali cuts. Soap cleanses the skin and leaves it rosy and smooth and soft like a baby's. Alkali cleanses but cuts, leaves the skin rough and red.

Let soaps which you know nothing about alone. They may look good, have fine perfume, but that isn't the test. You have got to use a soap. Why experiment?

CURATIVE
SKIN SOAP

is acknowledged the very best medicinal soap. We know it; we want you to try it. If you don't find it a pure wholesome soap, your money back. We ask you to take no risk.
